

Nikolaos Theodossiou: Professor, Director of the Division of Hydraulics and Environmental Engineering, expert in: Water Resources Management; Groundwater resources; Hydraulic modeling; Flood protection; Environmental impact assessment; Application of Optimization techniques; Protection and restoration of groundwater systems. He has participated in 25 national or EU funded, research projects concerning water resources management. He has 90 publications in scientific journals and in national and international conferences, and his work has been cited more than 150 times. He has served as an evaluator of proposals submitted under the 7th EC Framework Program.

President of the Hellenic Hydrotechnical Association, member of the board of the Association of European Civil Engineering Faculties and of the Center for Integrated Water Resources Management of the Aristotle University. Consultant to the Special Secretariat for Water of the Ministry of Environment and Climate Change of Greece, for the implementation of the EU Floods Directive. Head of the “Sisyphus Optimization” research team.