Extracurricular Activities - Community Help

- Volunteer Work One year of volunteer work while in high-school on the nearby neighbourhood of Ramalde, helping kids with their homework and tasks.
- TEUP Events Every edition of the above mentioned Tuna hosted events, had different charity beneficiaries:
- 2009 [ATACA]: This is an association that aims to help developing countries based on fund-raising, volunteer work and distance tutor programs. This last program is carried out in Mozambique and aims to help needing children by committing to finance their survival expenses (food, clothes, health and education).
  - 2010 [Crescer-Ser]: Institution that helps children victims of abuse and/or orphans with 7 temporary centers for children below 18 years old;
  - 2011 [Casa do Caminho]: Founded by a groups of friends that used to do volunteer work, it aims to help children up to 3 years old victims of abuse, neglect or some form of violation. They stay in the house until their adoption, or reinstatement into a rebalanced household;
  - 2012 & 2013 [Vencer Autismo]: This Association is focused on helping parents and autistic children by providing the information, the means and the therapeutic and psychological support to everyone that direct or indirectly socializes with people bearer of this so called "epidemic" of the XXI Century.;
- On these events, if there was any food leftover we always managed to give it away to needy people, usually to a nearby Priest that could easily join the hungry for a better meal.

Extracurricular Activities - Sports

- Solo Sports Growing up there were short periods of time practicing Swimming or Tennis (not at the same time).
- Team Sports There was always preference for team sports, because of the helpful team environment. Roller hockey (on Infante Sagres) was the first pick and it worked for a couple of years (1998–2000). After changing schools for 5th grade, Football gained expression and Escola de Futebol Domingos e Rui Barros in Leça da Palmeira was the pick. Rugby was the choice at a later age of 15, joining CLIP (Colégio Luso Internacional do Porto) Rugby School with a few friends.
